

LIPOSUCTION MALAYSIA

Liposuction Abdomen

Liposuction, is one of the most popular plastic surgery procedures because it offers safe, effective fat and cellulite removal. Some of the main liposuction benefits include improved health associated with fat loss, improved overall appearance, and the reduction in the appearance of cellulite.

Improved Health

Most doctors agree that weight loss is the best way to reduce your risk of heart disease, diabetes, and even certain types of cancer. Liposuction can be used for removal of stubborn pockets of fat of 10 pounds or less that resist dieting and exercise.

Improved Appearance

Make your clothes fit better with dramatic improvement to your problem areas. Liposuction can help smooth and contour your body, bringing back the confidence you've once lost. Other unexpected benefits include being able to partake in activities that patients had previously shied away from because they were unhappy with their appearance.

Cellulite Removal

Cellulite is caused by fat cells pushing through the collagen connective tissue directly beneath the skin's surface, causing a dimpled appearance. Cellulite is more common in women because men have a tighter collagen mesh pattern beneath their skin. Liposuction can help aid cellulite removal in both men and women, but it is important to remember that there is no permanent "cure" for cellulite as the success of cellulite removal is dependent on many factors, including genetics.

One of the most important ways to prepare yourself is to know what is involved in your procedure. For additional details please go to our virtual 3D library for Liposuction
